

SPEND ENTIRE NIGHT ON DRIFTING FLOES

FIFTY LITTLE STURGEON FISH-ERMEN IN DANGEROUS PRE-DICAMENT WHEN ICE CAKES BREAK.

ARE FINALLY RESCUED

Boys Rush Out in Small Boats But Many are Forced to Swim to Shore Through the Icy Water.

Little Sturgeon, Wis., Jan. 22.—Fifty fishermen, more than half the male population of this village, were swept out in Lake Michigan last night when a large floe of ice from which they were fishing cracked and floated away from shore. All were rescued after terrible suffering from exposure.

The fishermen did not notice their danger until the ice began to crack. They could not jump across. The cries of the men brought the women and children of the village to the shore where they stood in terror and watched their loved ones being slowly swept into Lake Michigan.

Small boats were manned by some of the boys and after a perilous ride through ice cakes some of the men were taken ashore. The boats were too small to carry all ashore and some of the more distracted ones tore off their heavier clothing and swam through the icy water to safety.

The wind swept the ice cakes drift from safety with six men afloat. Four of them got ashore late in the night when they too swam the breach. Their clothing was frozen stiff when they reached their homes.

On Ice All Night. John Pletier and Peter Olson remained on the ice all night. They burned their fish nets in order to keep warm. At ten o'clock this forenoon and nearly frozen, they were able to reach shore at Pilot Island eleven miles from their homes.

The loss to the fishermen is heavy, owing to the burning of the valuable nets. No serious physical ailment has resulted.

Mail Carriers Caught. Green Bay, Jan. 22.—Caught in an ice floe on Monday afternoon, while making a trip from Washington Island to Ellison Bay in a 32-foot gas-oil launch, Armon Kimcabe and Lester Peterson, Washington Island mail carriers, returned safely to the island this morning early. When caught in the ice floe the mail carriers abandoned their boat and after much difficulty succeeded in landing on Pilot Island.

At that time the carriers learned that a relief party had started out from Washington Island and that the members of that party had become the victims of the floe.

No Ill Effects. Peterson and Kimcabe started out in an effort to relieve the men who originally left their homes to rescue the mail carriers. Making the long distance on foot over the ice which was moving, the mail carriers found their would-be rescuers in a floe near Washington Island. None of the men have suffered any ill effects from their experience which was due entirely to the mild weather prevailing on the bay.

TELLS OF OBTAINING OIL TRUST LETTERS PRINTED BY HEARST

Former Managing Editor of New York American Says He Bought Part of Archbold Correspondence for Five Hundred Dollars.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Charles P. J. Mooney, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, and formerly managing editor of the New York American, told the senate campaign fund investigating committee today about obtaining copies of some of the Standard Oil letters published by William R. Hearst. Mr. Mooney testified that he negotiated for copies of only a few of the Archbold letters; that they were brought to the American offices by a white man whose name he did not know, and that he paid less than $500.

Publicity His Duty. "I believe that with letters containing matter of this sort it was someone's duty to make them public. They showed that senators and representatives sworn to protect the public interests were committing treason," Mr. Mooney told the committee.

He testified that when he became managing editor of the New York American in 1904, John Eddy, previously city editor, turned over to him a number of photographic copies of Standard Oil correspondence with public men. As to how those were obtained Mr. Mooney could give no information. Later a man he could not name offered him more letters and wanted him to buy them, assuring him he "had come by them honestly." Mr. Mooney made some photographic copies.

Advice of Counsel. "I was later assured by counsel," said Mr. Mooney, "that it would have been entirely proper for me to buy original letters containing matter of such a criminal character. I do not want them, however, and I do not care to have them remain in my possession, or in the paper's possession."

Mr. Mooney denied the statement in an affidavit by Charles Stump presented to the committee last week, that Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Mooney had inspected letter books taken from the Standard Oil offices. He said he never saw any such books, and that he had never negotiated with Mr. Chamberlain for any letters. He added, further, that he had never talked with Mr. Hearst about the correspondence and had never bought any of the originals.

In Regard to Price. Mr. Mooney branded the statement that $34,900 was paid for copies of the Standard Oil letters as "an absurdity." When asked for his judgment as to the statement that $4,500 was paid, Mr. Mooney replied that from a news point of view that price would not have been excessive. The committee took an indefinite recess.

The naval militia would be put upon a new footing by a bill passed today by the senate. It provides for the treatment of the naval militia as a part of the regular navy in the same way that the national guard is now related to the regular army. Enlistments in the naval militia would make its members subject to call by the president in time of war.

Chairman Underwood reiterated today that the tariff committee was proceeding with the primary purpose of raising revenue, that protection was only incidental and that the committee could not allow any rate so high as to prohibit importation.

A statement of the deposits of J. P. Morgan & Co. was produced showing that the firm on November 1, 1912, had eleven million dollars in deposits with New York banks and six hundred thousand dollars in Boston banks. Mr. Underwood endeavored to get from Mr. Joyce the holdings of J. P. Morgan in the constituent companies which were combined in the United States Steel Corporation. Mr. Joyce could not remember whether any such stock was held.

ELECTION OF COUNCIL IS VICTORY FOR OSAGE TRIBE

Washington, Jan. 22.—The "greatest moral victory in the history of the Osage tribe" was the way acting commissioner of Indian affairs Abbott today characterized the election of a new tribal council to succeed that recently deposed, by Secretary Fisher. On the charge that "undue influence" had been exerted over it by the Uncle Sam Oil Company in trying to obtain leases to the Osage oil lands, "Fred Locout, who was elected chief," said Commissioner Abbott, "is a hard working honest farmer, he and his wife are graduates of Carlisle. He is one of the Osages who does not refuse to work because of the unearned increment in oil land royalties the Osages enjoy."

The district supreme court here to which the old council appealed against Secretary Fisher's action in deposing them has refused to reinstate them.

LLOYD-GEORGE SAYS COMMONS MAY PASS THE SUFFRAGE BILL

British Chancellor Expresses Hopeful Opinion on Franchise Amendment to Deputation of Suffragettes.

London, Jan. 22.—"I hope we shall win on Monday," said Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, today, as he told of deputation of suffragettes representing the working women of the British Isles, whom he and Sir Edward Gray, the foreign secretary, received at the treasury department. "I certainly shall do my very best to see that the amendment to the franchise reform bill eliminating the word 'male' is passed by the house of commons. Since I have been in the cabinet I have become a more convinced supporter of woman's suffrage than ever. I am convinced that we shall win and in very soon."

The chancellor then went on to say that the liberal government was ready to stand or fall by Premier Asquith's pledge that if the house of commons approved the extension of the franchise to women the government would support it. Sir Edward Gray gave similar assurance to the deputation, but warned the women that the opposition to be overcome was very formidable and that it could not be done by menace or personal annoyance.

MEXICAN REBELS SURROUND JUAREZ

Says Domestic Price of Nails Was Higher Subsequent to Formation of Steel Corporation

New York, Jan. 22.—William E. Corey, former president of the United States steel corporation, resumed his testimony today at the hearing in the government's suit to dissolve the corporation. "Was the mill price of domestic nails subsequent to the formation of the steel corporation greater or less than the export price?" he was asked. "I want to be accurate," replied Mr. Corey. "The mill price for foreign business netted the producer less than on domestic business." "Then the domestic price was higher?" Mr. Corey conceded that such was in effect the case.

TO PREVENT UNFAIR METHODS OF TRUSTS; LEGISLATURE NEWS

Hull's Anti-discrimination Bill Introduced in Assembly This Morning—Election Contest Case—Other Matters.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—The unfair practices of trusts will be quickly halted and their charters revoked if the anti-discrimination bill introduced in the assembly this morning by Speaker Hull passes. This is the third time that Assemblyman Hull has presented this measure. In each successive session of the legislature this year the proposition was endorsed by the republican platform and the three leading national parties. Indications are that the measure will easily pass this year.

Unfair discrimination as defined in the act constitutes any attempt by a corporation, partnership, firm or individual to sell or sum products lower in one community than in another, for the purpose of driving some competitor out of business. In the bill Speaker Hull allows for the "difference, if any in the grade or quality and in the cost of transportation from the point of production." Any complaint may be made of any suspected violation of the act to the attorney general who "shall investigate such complaint and for that purpose he may subpoena witnesses and administer oaths, take testimony and require the production of books, or other documents, and if in his opinion sufficient grounds exist, therefor, he may prosecute an action in the name of the state and in the proper court to annul the charter."

Any individual violating the terms of the act may be fined not less than $100 or more than $5,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed one year, or by both fine and imprisonment.

In this state there have been some corporations that have cut prices in one locality below the market cost with a hope of ruining their competitors in another locality to make up the deficit, due to the underpricing of prices," said Speaker Hull today in explaining the measure. "This is exactly what the big centralizers of milk did in Iowa and Nebraska, until they drove the farmers' co-operative creamery out of business. Then they raised their prices and the community had to pay. My bill with prevent this."

Election Contest. Some legal matters must be settled before the assembly elections committee will be able to determine the election contest between John O'Day and Ralph H. Clark of Lincoln county. It is understood here today that these matters will have to be determined by the attorney general. All yesterday afternoon the committee heard arguments in the case. O'Day's attorneys claim that the legislature has no jurisdiction in the matter. In the official returns O'Day received 1,531 votes and Clark received 1,529 votes. Clark claims that ballots were thrown out as defective that should have been counted for him.

Claim No Jurisdiction. George M. Sheldon of Tomahawk and S. T. Swanson of Madison appeared for Mr. Clark, and John Van Hecke of Merrill and Rufus B. Smith of Madison appeared for Mr. O'Day. Van Hecke claimed that the legislature had no jurisdiction of the matter, because there is a statute which prescribes that in case of a contest, the matter must be filed within thirty days after the election. This Clark failed to do. Attorney Sheldon claims that this statute is merely directory and merely prescribes a form that may be followed. He declared that above the statutes is the constitution, which declares that "each house shall be the judge of the qualifications and elections of its own members."

O'Day's lawyers further claimed that Clark made no legal attempt to serve the notice of contest, and that the notice that was served did not comply with the statutes. Clark claimed that O'Day was out of the country when he desired to serve the notice and that he did not return until the thirty day limitation had expired. Attorney Swanson contended that the right to a seat in the legislature should be determined upon the merits of the case.

REACH SETTLEMENT IN MATCH COMPANY CHILD LABOR CASE

Oshkosh Firm Will Pay Fine of $2,000 On Eighty Counts While 144 Are Dismissed.

Oshkosh, Jan. 22.—The case of the state of Wisconsin against the Diamond Match Company in which the summons and complaint were served December 9, 1912 and which was brought to recover penalties under the child labor law, was formally disposed of late yesterday afternoon in the circuit court of Winnebago county, Judge E. H. Belden, of Racine, presiding in the absence of Judge Burnell, who is ill.

Pay $2,000 Fine. The state sued to recover on 224 counts and asked that the maximum penalty of $100 for each alleged violation be imposed making a total of $22,400. The basis of settlement yesterday agreed to by Gov. McComb, Attorney General Owen, Charles H. Crownhart, of the industrial commission and District Attorney D. E. McDonald, of Winnebago county was that the Diamond Match Company pay the minimum penalty of $25 for each of the first 80 counts or a total sum of $2,000 and that the remainder of the 224 counts be dismissed. It was further stipulated that the defendant company would be required to pay none of the costs of the prosecution.

Conferences Held. The settlement of this controversy was brought about through several conferences held with the state officials. Charles Barber, of Oshkosh, attorney for the Diamond Match Company and who appeared for them in all of the negotiations for settlement made a statement to the court yesterday which threw a new light on the subject matter and which warrants the assertion that the offenses admitted by the company were not as flagrant as generally supposed. He stated that at the conference with the governor he had contended that instead of 224 offenses alleged to have been committed there were not to exceed more than 14 or 15 under the law.

He presented to the state officials affidavits showing that at the most there were not less than 11 offenses against the eight hour restriction and not more than two or three which could be shown that girls worked more than forty-eight hours a week contrary to the law.

CITY OF PARIS HAS A SERIOUS PROBLEM

Must Provide Accommodation for 120,000 Persons Evicted From Homes by Sales of Fortifications.

Paris, Jan. 22.—The formidable problem of finding accommodations for 120,000 people who are to be evicted from their dwellings owing to the sale of the antiquated fortification of Paris to city authorities by the French government is now before the municipal council for solution.

The space occupied by the 21 mile wall encircling Paris and the "firing zone" 500 yards in width facing it are to be converted into public parks. This space is now covered by many thousand ramshackle houses, occupied by the very poor people and in many instances turned into resorts for criminals and tramps. The proprietors pay a small annual sum for the privilege of being allowed to construct these huts on the condition that they are subject to destruction in case of war. There is not sufficient accommodation for the occupants in other parts of city.

The amount of money expended on these old fortifications erected in 1840 and now to be raised exceeded two hundred million dollars. It is impossible to enter the city without passage through one of the seventy gates now used as tax collection stations.

MANY NEW SENATORS WILL OCCUPY SEATS IN SPECIAL SESSION

House of Representatives Will Have One Hundred and Sixty-one New Members—Complexion Changed.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—The special session which is expected to begin soon after the inauguration of President Wilson will be an altogether new congress, the sixty-third, of whose members 184, 23 senators and 161 representatives is the result partly of the re-apportionment which created many new congressional districts. But the political overturn is responsible almost wholly for the great change in the personnel of the senate.

The new senators will take the place of others, many of them long and widely known. Sixteen new senators are Senators Joseph W. Bailey of Texas, Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, Joseph M. Dixon of Montana, Frank O. Briggs of New Jersey, Norris Brown of Nebraska, Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, and Murphy J. Foster of Louisiana.

The fact that an unusually large number of the states are sending to the senate men well qualified for the place by reason of their previous legislative experience in the lower house of congress is a subject of much favorable comment in Washington just now. A review of the list shows that a majority of the new men who will sit in the senate after March 4 have already served as representatives.

The logo of Senator Bailey of Texas, now worn temporarily by Col. R. M. Johnston, an appointee of the governor, will after March 4 fall upon the shoulders of Morris Sheppard, who has been a representative in congress the past ten years and has been looked upon as one of the Bryanite leaders in that body.

Another prominent member of the lower house who will be seen in the senate is John W. Weeks, who has been named to succeed Senator Crane of Massachusetts. Mr. Weeks, though a comparatively young man, has represented the Twelfth Massachusetts district since 1906. He is regarded as one of the best informed members of the house on military and naval matters.

Senator Foster of Louisiana will be succeeded by Joseph E. Ransdell, who has nearly fifteen years' service in the house to his credit. Mr. Ransdell is widely known as a leader of the movement for improved highways. Since 1907 he has been president of the National Rivers and Harbors congress.

Edwin C. Burleigh who has been selected by the Maine legislature to succeed Senator Gardner, has had much legislative experience, though he is not now a member of congress. After fifteen years in the house he fell a victim to the democratic landslide in Maine two years ago.

Cliff M. James, who is to succeed Senator Paynter of Kentucky, has had ten years' experience in the lower house. Mr. James first became acquainted with the business of law-making at a very early age, when he served as a page in the Kentucky legislature.

Senator Norris Brown of Nebraska will be succeeded by George W. Norris, who for ten years has represented the Fifth Nebraska district in congress. The new senator gained prominence as one of the original republican "insurgents" in the house.

Another representative who will be seen in the senate after March 4 is William Hughes, the democratic choice for the seat of Senator Briggs of New Jersey. Mr. Hughes has served four terms as the representative of the Sixth New Jersey district.

Several of the states have not yet selected their senators. When the elections are complete it is possible that one or more additions will be made to the foregoing list of present representatives in congress who will be seen in the senate when the extra session convenes a few weeks hence to take up the work of tariff revision.

PEACE PLANS MAY BE BLOCKED BY TURKEY

RESIGNATION OF OLD CABINET STOPS TALK OF SURRENDERING ADRIANOPLE.

NEW CABINET IS FIRM

Claims It Wants Peace But Does Not Intend to Give Up Holy City—Allies in Session in London.

Constantinople, Jan. 22.—The Turkish cabinet resigned today in consequence of public demonstrations and protests against its actions in acceding to the wishes of the European powers. Mahmoud Shekret, Pasha, formerly war minister, has been appointed grand vizier in place of Kiamil Pasha.

New Members. Talaat Bey has been appointed minister of the interior, a position he held in a previous cabinet. In a statement after his appointment, he said:

"The change in the cabinet means that we are going to save the nation at home or perish in the attempt. We do not want a continuation of the war but we are determined to keep Adrianople at all costs. That is an indispensable condition of peace."

At the same time, the immediate consequences of the decision of the Turkish grand council to conclude peace with the Balkan allies will be the cessation of hostilities between Greece and Turkey and the surrender of the Turkish fortresses at Adrianople, Janina and Scutari. At all three fortresses the Turkish garrison will withdraw with the honors of war.

Contest on Scutari. Difficulties may arise concerning the fate of Scutari as no one knows to whom it is to be surrendered, whether to the Montenegrins to a provincial Albanian government or to the representatives of the powers.

King Nicholas of Montenegro insists that he must enter Scutari at the head of his troops, otherwise he says the reign of his family in Montenegro is doomed, as was contrary to the advice of his generals, refused to try to take Scutari by storm at the beginning of the war in order to avoid certain heavy losses which his small army would have suffered.

Montenegro's Position. He preferred the temporary policy of laying siege to the fortress—and should Scutari for this reason be lost to the Montenegrins he alone will be considered responsible.

Members of the Turkish peace delegation in London showed signs of a disposition today but they are determined that the era of concession must now be regarded as closed.

Back to Peace Basis. Budapest, Jan. 22.—The demobilization of the Austro-Hungarian troops called to the colors in connection with the Balkan crisis began today.

Sport Shop Shots

by Dan McCarty

A New Orleans fight promoter has offered a purse of $5,000 for a fight between Johnny Coulon, bantam champion, and Frankie Burns. It is planned to stage the battle the last of next month.

One of the finest examples of a fighter who has saved his money is Harlem Tommy Murphy of New York. At the age of twenty-eight Murphy has an income of $180 a month from his six houses in Brooklyn. All this he has saved from the fight game, and he isn't champion either. Murphy is 28, has been a fighter 12 years and has taken part in 165 battles.

Walter Cochran, the western billiard prodigy, who has just entered his fifteenth year, has been playing in Brooklyn this week with great success. Chicago enthusiasts pronounce him the equal of Hanna at like age and predict that he'll be contending for championships before he acquires the right to vote.

Tris Speaker's friends say he's been overlooked in a most shameful manner. Spaulding's baseball record book this year as usual features an All-American baseball team. It names A. G. Spaulding, pitcher; J. T. Meyers, catcher; A. C. Anson, first base; Ross Barnes, second base; Harry Steinfield, third base; George Wright, shortstop; Joseph Kelly, left field. Speaker's friends say the Boston Red Sox wonder should have been named instead of Duffy for center field. The latter's record with Boston in 1903 in 131 games was .378 batting average and .958 fielding. Speaker last year batted .333 and fielded .958.

Time brings changes, they say. A year or two ago, when nobody thought of Roger Bresnahan's joining the Cubs, Mr. C. W. Murphy, owner of the latter organization, searched back and forth through his vocabulary trying to find things uncomplimentary enough to say about Roger. Now Bresnahan has become a full-fledged Cub, and Murphy sees much good in him. In fact, Bresnahan may become manager of the Chicago team if Johnny Evers falls down.

Joe Tinker, new pilot of the Cincinnati Reds, says he's going to have first-class coaching next season if he has to deprive the club of something else. "A great deal of the success or failure of any team," says Tinker, "must depend on the intelligence shown by the coaches, especially the man who is coaching at third. The coacher at first doesn't really amount to much, but the man at third is one of the mainstays of the game, since it is up to him to judge when a runner should come home."

LUTHER McCARTY'S FATHER, "WHITE EAGLE," HAS HAD 'SPEC-TACULAR CAREER.

AARON P. McCARTY.

Piqua, O.—That Luther McCarty, the young Lochinvar of the West, and the new white heavyweight champion, is not the only member of his family to lead a picturesque and spectacular career is abundantly testified to by those who know Luther's father, "Dr." Aaron P. McCarty.

As a young fan the older McCarty fished and went west to Nebraska. There his children, Luther, McCarty the youngest, were born in a little sod cabin located on a homestead in Wild Horse Canon, some 250 miles southwest of Lincoln. Two years after the advent of Luther the boy's mother died. It was then that the older McCarty took up the life that has been so picturesque. He took the guise of an Indian, calling himself "Chief White Eagle," and became a street fakir and medicine vender. His travels have taken him into every state in the union, Canada and Mexico. Seven years ago the McCarty's came to Sydney, O., living there three years before coming to Piqua, where they now reside.

A friend of the family, who knows Luther and his father intimately, tells a story that throws some interesting side lights on the picturesque pair. Relates this friend:

HAL CHASE WOULD BE AT HOME ON SECOND

HAL CHASE.

Should Manager Frank Chance of the New York Highlanders decide to play first base for his team next year, which now seems likely, he can, according to critics who watched Hal Chase play in the bushes on the coast, play Hal on second base, even if the Californian is a southpaw thrower.

According to these critics, Chase is a mighty clever second baseman and a shortstop and an ideal outfielder. He is known only as a first baseman to the vast majority of the fans, however, at which position he has no peer.

"Last summer there appeared in the smaller cities and towns and villages of southern Ohio a street fakir of the old school. He looked like an Indian, was tall, tawny and silent. He carried an outfit with him, several porters such as a strong woman, a strong man who bent heavy iron bars and broke iron chains; a snake charmer, two spotted ponies drawing an elaborately decorated wagon, a greyhound who appeared like a worthy member of a worthy breed, and a little dog of 57 varieties of breeds in his feline-up. The fakir also carried a tent.

"This Indian called himself 'White Eagle,' and he posed as a medicine man. He sold a concoction which he labeled snake oil. It was particularly good for rheumatism, gout, toothache, headache, aching muscles, and most anything in the way of ordinary ills—so he said.

"Every evening the Indian picked out a prominent corner of the town he happened to be in, and erected his platform, set out his supply of snake oil, and between acts by his special troupe of performers he disposed of his bottled many-things-in-one. He had a picturesque outfit and he drew well.

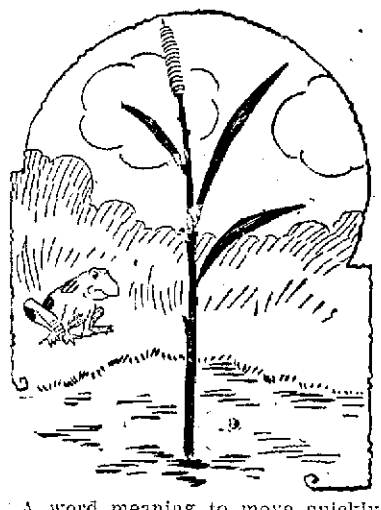

"One day there came to one of the cities in southern Ohio a massive giant. He had two black eyes and he sought Police Headquarters. He asked about the street fakir, the Indian who called himself White Eagle, and sold 'Rattlesnake Oil.' White Eagle had gone and the police knew not his present whereabouts.

"The young giant with the two black eyes sat down to explain. His name was Luther McCarty, and he was a prizefighter. His father was a street fakir, who called himself 'White Eagle.' The son had been in several bouts, made some money and had come to see his father again. He traveled on and found him."

The diversions of the court included an anticipation of the spelling bee. When a lady of the court spelled "thermometer" with an "a" Melbourne judiciously observed: "It is a very good way to spell it, but not the way."

PHILIES DO NOT WANT MIKE DONLIN

MIKE DONLIN.

When the Pittsburgh Pirates decided some little time ago that they had no further use for Mike Donlin, pinch hitter of big degree, the rumor spread abroad that Mike would get a berth with the Philadelphia Nationals. Now William Locke, new owner of the Phillies, has laid the rumor with the positive statement that he won't keep the actor-player. The situation looks dark for Mike so far as the National league is concerned, but it said he may find a spot in the American league if all National league clubs waive.

TO STOP MONOPOLY OF HUNTING GROUND

Legislation Proposed During Coming Week to Prevent Hunters Controlling Game Harshes.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Jan. 23.—A plan to head off hunters getting control of all of the marshes of the state will be proposed in a bill to come into the senate next week. The bill has the approval of the hunters of small means, who claim that the rich men are getting a monopoly of all of the hunting grounds. In just what form the plan can be worked out to accomplish the result is not known, but a bill intended to cover these features is now being drafted.

The same hunting interests will have a bill introduced to make Muskego marsh in Waukesha county a state game preserve. It is claimed that many of the ducks nest here and that the marsh should be protected. Along with these bills will come the general spring shooting measure, which appears only to be defeated at every session. It is said that the people who ask for spring shooting this year are not as anxious to have the measure passed as they are to get the facts about the southern "pot" hunters before the legislature. The point they wish to accomplish, it is said, is to have the legislature memorialize all the legislatures of the southern states to pass laws that will curb the activities of the game hog.

Members of the Wisconsin Association of Outlying Waters Fishermen are writing to all of the members of the legislature asking that the closed season for fishing be changed. This organization, of which Capt. Herman Luebke is president, has its headquarters at Two Rivers.

"The closed season should start on the 15th of October and be closed for six weeks," says the letter. "If you think it would be too much harm to some of the fishermen, who have arranged for the past laws then you should give us a closed season from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15 and leave the fish hatch their own eggs."

The letter declares that the fishermen look upon this matter the same as an army of men who would go into our forests during the breeding time, and kill all the birds that they could find and gather the eggs from them for hatching.

MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN FRONT OF HOTEL

Lifeless Body of Hugh Pelton of Plattville Discovered on Academy Street Early This Morning.

Hugh Pelton, a Plattville man about forty years of age, was found lying dead on the sidewalk in front of the Railroad hotel on Academy street at five o'clock this morning by Clyde Rossiter, who was on his way to work at the Harkins & Schwartz warehouse. Rossiter at once notified the night clerk of the hotel, who discovered that the dead man was one of the guests who had stepped out of the building not more than ten minutes previous. Pelton lay face downward with his hat over his face and seemed to have fallen in his tracks without any struggle. The police were promptly notified of the finding of the body. Patrolman Dorn responded and summoned Dr. Charles Sutherland, who made an autopsy. He found that Pelton's death was the result of heart failure and alcoholism. The remains were removed to the Ryan undertaking rooms to await directions for their disposal. Station Officer Sam Brown discovered a letter in the pockets of Pelton addressed to him at Plattville, care of the Book with livery barn. By telephoning this place he learned that Pelton had a mother, daughter, and sisters living in that city who would be notified of his death at once.

Patrolman Harry Smith found Pelton walking the streets at about half past twelve last night and at his request assisted him to find a lodging at the Railroad hotel. Pelton registered there and chatted a little with the night clerk before going up to his room at about one o'clock. He said that he had come from Plattville on a freight train, walked to the city from the yards, and was very tired. The night clerk noticed that his eyes were blood-shot but he seemed to be sober. He was fairly well dressed and wore two rings on one hand. He carried no grip.

Pelton got up at about 4:30 o'clock this morning, inquired as to the weather and went out for a walk, returning about fifteen minutes later. He then stepped inside and seated himself for a while, going out again about five o'clock. The man who responded to the telephone message sent to Plattville said that Pelton had been troubled with heart disease for a long time and that his death was not unexpected.

Word was received later in the day that relatives of Pelton would arrive here from Plattville at four o'clock this afternoon to take the remains home for burial.

RECALL PETITION IS REPORTED AS READY

Committee of Twelve 'Said to Have Held Meeting Last Evening to Discuss Ways and Means.

While nothing definite is stated relative to the proposed petition for the recall of the present city officials, it is rumored today that the petition, with the required number of signatures have been filed out and attested to according to law, and they will be filed within a day or two with the city clerk. It is also reported that the matter of ways and means was discussed at a meeting of the committee of twelve who are handling the various petitions. Whether the committee has decided to file merely the twenty-five per cent of the last vote or the thirty-three and third per cent, as is held by some to be required under the law, is not known. It has been stated that the lists were full, had anywhere from six hundred odd to nine hundred odd names. It is expected the lists will be held back so as to bring the sixty days after filing when the election must be held, on the date of the regular April city election.

BURGLARIZE SALOON OF JOSEPH F. GOKEY

Thieves Who Entered Academy Street Bar Room Last Night Took $12.50 from Cash Register.

Burglars broke into the saloon of Joseph F. Gokey, 15 North Academy street late last night or early this morning and robbed the cash register of ten silver dollars and two and one-half dollars in quarters and half dollars. Seventeen dollars in nickles and dimes was left by the burglars who it seems were either frightened away or else did not dare to attempt disposal of such large quantity of small change. No liquor or cigars were found missing.

Entrance to the saloon was obtained by breaking out the panel in the door on the west side and operating the lock. This door opened into a hall and it was necessary to break the panel in another door and pry up a bar on the inside before the bar-room could be entered. The police believe the robbery was committed by local talent familiar with the premises. The robbery was not reported to the police until 9:30 o'clock this morning. Patrolman Patrick Fanning made an investigation.

LIVESTOCK MARKET HAS A SLUMP TODAY

Poor Demand for Hogs Forces Prices
Five Cents While Sheep Decline Ten and Fifteen Cents.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Jan. 23.—A slow market for hogs resulted in another five cent decline this morning. Heavy receipts throughout the week had evidently taken the edge off the market, and the bulk of sales ranged from $7.40 to $7.45. A few choice loads brought $7.50.

Sheep also suffered a setback with prices generally ten and fifteen cents lower. Cattle had a slow market.

Prices ranged as follows:
Cattle—Receipts 6,000; market slow and steady; heaves 6.00@9.15; Texas steers 4.70@5.70; western steers 5.50@7.20; stockers and feeders 4.90@7.65; cows and heifers 2.70@7.35; calves 7.00@7.85.

Hogs—Receipts 34,000; market slow and weak, 5c lower than Wednesday; light 1.15@7.45; mixed 7.20@7.50; heavy 7.00@7.50; rough 7.00@7.15; pigs 5.75@6.50; bulk of sales 7.40@7.45.

Sheep—Receipts 17,000; market weak, 10c and 15c lower; native 4.55@6.25; western 5.00@6.25; yearlings 6.40@8.25; lambs, native 7.00@9.20; western 7.00@9.20.

ELGIN BUTTER QUOTED AT THIRTY-TWO CENTS TODAY

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 20.—Butter was quoted at thirty-two cents on the Elgin board of trade this afternoon.

Mortimer L. Schiff and Foulke E. Brandt.

Another effort is being made to secure freedom for Foulke E. Brandt. Nearly six years ago he was sentenced to a term of 30 years in prison for committing burglary in the home of Mortimer L. Schiff of New York. Brandt pleaded guilty on the understanding that by so doing he would be given a light sentence. Instead, he was given the maximum penalty. He afterward declared that he was innocent of the crime charged. It was his first offense.

INDICTMENT LIKELY FOR WOMAN WHO SUBSTITUTED ANOTHER BABE FOR OWN

Mrs. Dorothy Slingsby and the substituted babe.

San Francisco.—As a result of the sordid story told here last week by Mrs. O. H. Blain, and since substantiated in part by other witnesses indictment and extradition from England are among the possibilities for Mrs. Dorothy Slingsby, American wife of Lieut. Charles Henry Raymond Slingsby, a retired British naval officer and scion of a wealthy English family.

The story told by Mrs. Blain is of the purchase and substitution, in 1910 by Mrs. Slingsby of a wronged girl's two-day-old infant as her own, the burning of the body of her child, which had been stillborn, and the concealment of the whole transaction from Lieut. Slingsby. Mrs. Blain admits having assisted in the crime.

The only touch of maternal feeling in the history of the transaction concerns futile appeals of the child's real mother to be told at least where the child had been taken, and of those ceasing after the first two months, with the young girl swallowed up in a city's darker side, unidentified, where her past is not known, or at most would not be cared about.

Money plays its part in the story, although the motives, according to Mrs. Blain, were twofold—first, the desire for an heir to share the $1,000,000 estate of Mrs. Slingsby's husband's father in England, who was then at death's door, and, second, the fear on the part of Mrs. Slingsby that if she went back to her husband childless he would divorce her. She was then 48, and eight years his senior. He wished an heir.

After procuring a local physician to make and file a false birth certificate, Mrs. Slingsby, who had come to San Francisco in order to get the best medical care, returned with the substituted child to her husband, who was then at Victoria, British Columbia.

In November last, Lieutenant and Mrs. Slingsby were present at an investigation into the case made by the state board of health. At that time Mrs. Slingsby testified that the child was her own. This may open the way for an indictment for perjury against her.

At that investigation Lieutenant Slingsby, who was ignorant of the transaction, protested that he was satisfied that the child was his own because it looked and laughed just like he did when a boy.

Assistant District Attorney Ferrari, who has had charge of the investigation, will initiate a grand jury inquiry in the near future to procure an indictment against Mrs. Slingsby in order that she may be extradited on a charge of falsification of public records.

The Slingsbys are now believed to be in England.

A New Kind of Evening Class Needed

FOR those who cannot go to school or college during the day, or whose early education has been neglected, we have nowadays, evening classes in almost every branch of learning. At the present time, a man or woman can, by studying at night, get a college or university education. No field of book knowledge has been overlooked.

But there has been one department altogether overlooked; and many an ambitious man or woman needs instruction of this kind, as much as he does book knowledge. Some of them need it more, and not only need it more, but want it more. And many who have taken correspondence or night courses until they are thoroughly at home in all the isms and ologies of the age lack this one thing; and lacking this, the result of much of their study can be put to little practical use.

And this new branch that needs so sadly to be taught is deportment. Many a man or woman who has worked himself or herself up in the world from an uncultured home, who has studied until he is well-informed, does not know how to enter or leave a room gracefully, does not know what to do or say when introduced, does not know what to do with his hands or feet; in a word, is embarrassed and ill at ease in society. And thus he is at a disadvantage.

Many a bright girl goes from a home that is altogether lacking in the essentials of good breeding to a night school. Then, she gets into a store or office, and works herself up to a good position. In time, she earns a large salary, and meets socially, those far above what her early home and its surroundings were. And often she is at a loss as to what to do and how to conduct herself.

If there were classes where one could be taught the usages of society, they would be of great help to many an ambitious young man or girl.

Breeding is supposed to be a matter of birth; but nevertheless, the bright, ambitious boy or girl could be taught, to some extent, how to be a lady or gentleman. And in this country of ours, where so many who need this training forge to the front, without doubt, such classes would be popular.

Perhaps in the future, our evening schools and evening colleges will have a department of deportment. And many there are also, in supposedly cultured homes, who could attend these classes with profit.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man about 25 years of age; I am 19. I have every reason to believe he loves me. Now he has left town. I have heard from him twice and he has been away one month. It is almost breaking my heart. I try to go out and enjoy myself with other boys but cannot. This is not a passing fancy, but real love. Do you think he really loves me? Please advise me what to do. I am sick and nervous. Please help me. HEARTBROKEN.

My dear, about the only way a girl may know if a man loves her is when he asks her to be his wife. Then he is seriously in love. Before that, if he cares for her, he will want to be with her as much as possible and will try to please and be considerate of her in every way. Your young man has possibly been very busy since he went away. He is very busy with new things and perhaps in a new business. When he gets tired of it all, as he may, he will think back of you more fondly than ever.

Meantime, all you can do is be patient. Don't write to him any often than he writes you and make your letters pleasant without being sentimental. Don't for goodness' sake, let him think you are in love with him until he wants to know of his own accord.

But if he doesn't care for you, keep a stiff upper lip and remember that you are still young enough to outgrow an affection for a man who doesn't want it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a bright girl of 22 and deeply in love with a young man of 23. Of late he has seemed indifferent to me and as he works in a small town not far from here he only gets to see me once in three weeks. Now there is a pretty blonde, cushion working at the same place. Is it possible that she has won his love from me?

(2)—I have seen expecting an engagement ring from him for the longest time. Do you think I would do wrong if I kind of hinted around for it? TROUBLED.

(1)—A little jealous, are you, my dear? And perhaps you have shown that you are. But if you really think he cares more for the other girl than for you, be just as cool to him as he is to you and let her have him. You wouldn't be happy one minute if you tried to hold him without his wanting very much to be held.

(2)—If you are not engaged to him you should not expect an engagement ring. It would be very bad taste to hint about wanting one. An engagement ring isn't necessary to happiness. If he speaks about it, ask him if he doesn't think it would be wise to give you some inexpensive little

SAYS COSTLY GOWNS KEEP ACTRESS POOR

Blanche Ring.

Blanche Ring, popular actress who is now touring the country in "The Wall Street Girl," has just solved the problem why so many actresses die poor. It's because they have to pay such ruinous prices for their gowns. It is nothing uncommon for Miss Ring to pay $1,000 for a gown and she has frequently far exceeded that figure. In "The Wall Street Girl" she has a Parisian gown which she brought back from Europe in August and which she says left her nearly penniless.

—restores the grey hairs to their natural color immediately, and keeps the scalp free from dandruff.

Druggists the world over have been interested in the number of women who voluntarily recommend HAY'S HAIR HEALTH. It is not unusual for them to say: "I want to tell others about it. It's perfectly splendid." Try it yourself, today. You'll be surprised how quickly the grey hairs disappear.

Free Sign this adv. and take it to any of the following druggists, and get a 50 cent size bottle of HAY'S HAIR HEALTH and 1 cake of HARPINA SOAP FREE, for 50c; or a $1.00 size bottle of HAY'S HAIR HEALTH and 2 cakes of HARPINA SOAP FREE, for $1.00.

Fads and Fashion

New York, Jan. 23.—The fashioning of gowns is no longer a matter subject to set and rigid rules; it has become an art and only artists in their métier can ever hope to succeed in producing modern gowns and costumes that are really beautiful and becoming. Darts, gores and other devices for the shaping of garments are eliminated from fashionable toilettes of the present. A length of goods is draped about the figure to form the skirt, the fullness being lifted or lowered at will to form the drapery. Fabrics are neither cut nor sewn, but swathe the figure. They are often left open at the hem to reveal a glimpse of the ankles, and in the formation of the train there is no set rule. It may be at the back if it conveniently falls that way, but in some of the new draped forms the train goes off to the side.

The natural and beautiful lines of the body are retained in the fashions of today. In all of the new draped effects the skirt is close about the feet, and the fullness spreads just below the curve of the hips. This fullness is often placed in the form of hood-like or loop draperies hanging from the belt. Such a thing as a dart for fitting a skirt is at present unknown. If the material cannot be adjusted to the belt through the dropping down of a part of the fabric fullness it is laid in irregular pleats or gathered.

In the construction of the bodice quite as many new and extraordinary ideas prevail as in the skirt. The jackets and coats of the present also come in for their share of eccentricity in cut. They defy all rules, having seams where seams are least expected to be found, and having no seams where they have heretofore been found.

In the newest bodices and coats the underarm seam is lacking. The shaping is done by means of the shoulder seam, or through the application of a curving yoke which extends down to the top of the sleeve. Unlike the kimono cut of the ordinary form, which had no shoulder seam or armhole seam, but did have an underarm seam, the new bodice now has no underarm seam, but has an armhole and a shoulder seam.

Sleeves for street wear are long. Many of the new separate waists, as well as simple costumes, have full-length sleeves and there are also many of the more dressy gowns with long sleeves. The kimono form has been retained to some extent, but it is the kimono set on to the dropping or extended shoulder and brought down into fitted form. There are a hundred variations of this style of sleeve, some of which are straight-hanging, others flaring and open, and still others in the bell shape.

New evening skirts are slashed and cut up about the feet in all sorts of frivolous fashions, and yet such skirts do not appear the least out of the way when worn by a lady. The long lines and the openings disclose nothing save a dainty white or colored stocking, and stockings being in evidence this winter, now fill an important place in the wardrobe for both day and evening wear. Low shoes, or, rather, slippers, are still worn for the street, and it is considered quite chic to put a pair of colored hose with a black slipper.

Women who go out a great deal in the evening, or those who put on an evening dress for dinner, this winter, are having several plain satin slips of white and various delicate dyes made over which is to be slipped tulle of net, mousseline, or tulle, embroidered, beaded or finished in pearl trimming. With such changes, a new gown is the effect all the time, while the expense is greatly reduced.

A practical scarf to be thrown over the shoulders at the opera or in a draughty ballroom is one of the coarse lace edged with swansdown, the latter of white or any tone one wishes. The scarf is about a yard and a half long by half a yard wide, or it may be three-cornered in shape, all at the desire of the wearer. The effect is dainty, the lace is softening and curbing to no matter what colored toilet one wears, and the covering is just enough to cheer without heating the shoulders.

Many fashionable women still cling to the flat stole of swansdown. But this, while beautiful, is too warm, and removing it from the neck one is apt to take cold.

Fur continues to dominate for trimmings for evening wear. Nothing is prettier or softer, but for good effect only the real peltry looks well, while imitations look outrageously vulgar.

Colored gloves are to be much worn. They are shown in almost every color in which afternoon gowns and street suits are made, in all shades of red and blue, in green and every variety of tan and brown.

White glove kid gloves lined with pink or blue kid show heavy real lace in a turned back cuff over the colored lining.

Black and white gloves are also smart. Heavy white stitching shows on the back of black glove kid gloves which have big white rimmed, black centered pearl buttons and which show facings of white kid at the wrist.

White street gloves, on the other hand, show black stitching, a black wrist facing and black rimmed white pearl buttons. Black gloves with a pinked flit of white kid at the wrist are also in evidence.

Stockings in colors for wear with evening gowns are manufactured in almost every imaginable shade. If the exact shade of the slipper cannot be found, however, the stockings can be dyed to the shade desired. Some stocking dealers make a specialty of doing this dyeing in a few hours' time.

Silver-headed black dull kid slippers are popular for house wear. They are made with half a dozen little cut-out straps across the instep. On almost all low shoes, street shoes and house and evening slippers buckles of some sort are displayed. The variety of brilliant buckles for evening wear is almost endless. Street and house shoes are adorned with leather and suede-covered buckles and buckles of gun metal, silver and gilt, either

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING FOR CHILDREN.

"Everything to Help, And Nothing to Hinder."

For several years our talks and demonstrations of foods and house-keeping have been with the real, or near, grown-ups. That is, those who have kept house several years, others just beginning and still others getting all the help possible before starting in their new profession—house-keeping.

But, with all that, I have had no chance with the children (boys or girls, it makes no difference, which) in the part which they take in making the home a happy place to live. You may not know it, but everything you make or do yourself gives you a satisfied, happy feeling while you are doing it and after you have done it.

I once knew a family of seven children. Returning from their vacation one summer the cook failed to appear at the appointed time (which frequently happens) and also the house-maids. But this was a family who must have followed our motto, which I have given you: "Everything to help and nothing to hinder," for it only took a short time before every child had his or her work to do, from the smallest child who went to school to the oldest son, who was employed in a large store in the city. One helped mother get the breakfast, another washed the dishes, another aired and made the beds, run the sweeper and so on all through the work; and by the time they all left home for their work or school the house was in order; and the best part of it was, one of the young men of the family told me of this, as though they were having the proudest and happiest time of their lives.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

PROVERBS THAT LIE.

THE housewife who must have everything just so had been over-working again, and her husband was reasoning with her.

"Why couldn't you clean things up a little and let it go at that?" he asked. "Was it worth a lit of sickness to have everything spick and span?"

"Oh well! I hate to half do things," she answered fretfully. "What's worth doing at all is worth doing well, you know."

Did it ever occur to you that a proverb might lie? There are a great many people who consider a proverb the last word on any question. Apparently they think that proverbs come right from Heaven, such is their sublime faith in them. And yet when you come to think of it, proverbs are only the words of fallible mortals like you and me. The fact that generations have accepted and passed them on proves they have some value, but it doesn't prove that they are infallible. Applied to certain conditions proverbs may be bare-faced lies.

Take the proverb with which the woman who must have everything just so tried to justify herself, for instance. It certainly is a flagrant example. Doesn't almost every day of your life show you things that must be done and yet are not worth doing well?

I can feel those readers who are fond of quoting that proverb stiffening up in indignant denial. Very well, here is an instance. In my stocking basket last night was a pair of stockings with a tremendous hole in the lower part of the heel. They were old stockings and yet not quite old enough for my conscience to permit me to throw them away. To have darned that hole well would have taken at least half an hour. To draw the hole together so that it would last a few more wearings took about five minutes. The stocking certainly wasn't worth a half-hour of my time, but it was worth five minutes; and that's just what it got.

Furthermore people who use that proverb generally make it mean "What's worth doing at all is worth doing as well as you can." That's one of the objections to proverbs; they make people read their own meanings into them. Now a nurse once taught me to make a bed the absolutely perfect way in which they are made in hospitals. When I make a bed for an invalid or for any special occasion, I do it that way, but it takes just about twice as long. Is it worth while to spend my time that way every day? The devotees of that proverb assure me that it is. I can't see it.

"Figures can't lie" is an old saying. "Proverbs can't lie" is an old belief. I beg to differ on both cases. Figures and proverbs both need to be taken with a good big pinch of the salt of common sense.

Black and white is a faddish combination affects even the realm of foot-wear. Black and white shoes of corded silk, the stripe about an eighth of an inch in width, are among the newest shoes. These shoes are really very striking when worn with a black and white house frock.

Attractive small hats for the spring are made entirely of roses or other small flowers. Soft straw and mousseline is so worked that it is impossible to tell which is straw and which is mousseline or ribbon. The brims of these little hats are jaunty and narrow.

Sashes of bright-colored velvet edged with small silk or satin and give a pretty effect.

That he lived in as good health as other boys during his college course principally on bread and butter alone, is the testimony of Dr. Harvey Wiley, and that he ranked as high as any of them in his studies on this simple diet. If he had added a little milk and also excluded the condiments and the little meat that he still believes in, and continued that simple diet for life, Dr. Wiley would be a better-looking man and still more efficient than he is today. Gradually Dr. Wiley and other teachers of proper living are coming over to the monodiet theory, while thousands are learning to practice it.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 2 1/2 pints of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, croup, chest pains, bronchitis and other chest troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasantly.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualiac and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula. This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (for strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. ## HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A Pretty Kitchen. At small expense we converted our kitchen into a room that would delight any woman.

To match this blue enamel kitchen ware, we had the walls and wood-work done in a delicate shade of blue.

For the windows I dyed some discarded, but perfectly good, lace curtains the same shade, and covered the floor with blue linoleum.

The Table. Stuffed Onions—Boil large Bermuda onions until nearly soft, then remove inside, leaving a shell. Chop inside with three cooked sausages, one hard-boiled egg, two tablespoons bread crumbs, salt and pepper to taste and one tablespoon butter. Fill cracker crumbs on top and put over each a small thin slice of bacon. Cook half hour in good oven.

Nut Cup Cakes—Break two eggs into bowl, stir slightly to break yolks, add pinch salt, half cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder and one cup broken English walnut meats. When cold, ice with frosting made with two dessertspoonfuls maple syrup and about half cup powdered sugar; but they are fine without the icing. This makes eight cup cakes. Bake in moderate oven 15 minutes.

Apple Pie (extraordinary)—Make thick applesauce, sweeten with sugar, season with nutmeg, pinch salt and half teaspoon melted butter. Make rich piecrust, bake, then fill with applesauce, cover with whipped cream and serve.

Rice Pudding Without Eggs—For a family of four, take one-fourth cup rice to one quart milk. Cleanse rice, add milk, sweeten to taste. Season with plenty of nutmeg and fruit, add piece of butter. Put into oven and cook about two hours, stirring often. If it should get too thick add more milk. When done should be thick, but creamy, not dry.

Things Worth Knowing. Save all wax-coated boxes in which crackers are packed, as they make excellent polishers for irons instead of the little blocks of paraffin wax generally used. These little boxes are fine to keep doughnuts or cookies.

SAYS MRS. SHEPARD CAUSED SEPARATION

Woman Who Promoted Schumann-Heink Engagement Here Proves To Be Undesirable Mother-In-Law.

Janesville people who met Mrs. Clara Bowen Shepard and her daughter, when they were here two years ago promoting the engagement of Madam Schumann-Heink, will be interested in the following dispatch from Milwaukee:

Milwaukee, Wis., 23.—That his mother-in-law was the reason for the breaking up of a happy home and the loss of the wife he still loves is the plea of Joseph Eckman, who has started suit for divorce against Anne Shepard Eckman, daughter of Mrs. Clara Bowen Shepard, a musical impresario. The divorce suit is the outcome of a secret wedding at the Little Church Around the Corner, New York, June 16, 1909, a ceremony known to none but the bride and groom, minister and the mother-in-law.

Here are some of the allegations of the husband:

That his mother-in-law insisted on being one of the honeymoon party, and that she insisted that the bride travel on their honeymoon as an unmarried woman, with the mother as a chaperone.

That he was forced to live as a boarder in his own household.

That he was required to pay two-thirds of the cost of the maintaining of the house.

That if he agreed to pay two-thirds of the cost of maintaining the home he must also agree to take his meals downtown and give his wife $5 a week for pin money.

Eckman brings the suit on the alleged grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Up to the filing of suit he alleged his wife refused to recognize the marriage. He says he did not care to make an open quarrel over his trouble owing to his love for his wife. He alleges that he lived in the household ostensibly as a boarder, and that his wife and her mother gave out this statement to the world.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

INSOMNIA.

(By Howard L. Rahn.)

Insomnia is the habit of waking up at two o'clock in the morning and trying to go to sleep with both eyes wide open. It is caused by the nerves rising to the surface like so many pinfeathers and then running around in circles.

One of the most common causes of insomnia is the whistling snore. A person who carries one of these snores around with him can introduce more blue-flame insomnia into a Pullman sleeper than a head-end collision, and yet be perfectly safe from attack in the courts. The only way to cure insomnia in a sleeping car is to reach out of the upper berth and register a mild protest with a No. 11 shoe.

Insomnia is also the result of something getting on the mind which refuses to climb off. When this happens several nights in succession the patient is given something to subdue the mind and upset the stomach, after which he is trailed for some time by the ingrowing dyspepsia. Some people are able to lie awake for hours at a time without feeling their mind or any other object except the toe-dancing toothache, but they never appear satisfied with what is going on.

When a person has insomnia in the right place he can think of a large number of things which are not good for anything except to irritate the mind and cause it to throw off sparks, bubbles and murderous gestures. About the time the mind begins to quit having the bedding and gets ready to lie down at full length, somebody will open a little ragtime in the parlor and sing about two tones below the pitch, when it will rise to its feet at once and start a new chain of thought and self-stopping profanity.

While art, science and medicine are alike helpless before insomnia, it is now known that the lowly dill pickle is a sure cure for wakefulness. Nine large, full-bodied dill pickles eaten soon after midnight, will produce a feeling of uneasiness which will cause the patient to think of something besides sleep and fill the mind with pious reflections upon the future state.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY.
Take no risks and do not depend upon the strength of others, for though willing, they may be unable to bear the responsibility. Those born today will be attractive and fond of social affairs, where they will be great favorites. They will have many talents and will excel as artists, comedians and in the lighter sciences.

Probably.
The man who permits himself to be ruined by prosperity would probably have been ruined by something else if prosperity had not come along first.

An appetizing canape is prepared with sardines, hard cooked egg, peas, chopped fine and a little lemon juice. Cut the bread in thin circular slices and fry in a little butter until brown. Skin and bone the sardines, rub to a paste, add the peanuts chopped, a little lemon juice, and the hard cooked egg yolk put through a ricer or sieve. Garnish the canape with pieces of egg white.

Plum Pudding Ice Cream.—Scald a pint of milk, add to it four eggs beaten with a cup and a half of sugar. Stir constantly over hot water until it forms a rich custard; strain and set aside to cool. Dissolve two tablespoonsful of cocoa in half a cup of boiling water and boil three minutes. Chill this, and add to the cold custard with a tablespoonful of vanilla and a pint of cream. Shred sufficient citron to measure half a cup; steam a cup and a half of raisins until tender, blanch and cut fine two dozen almonds; mix these with just enough orange juice to moisten, and let stand an hour. Pour the mixed cream into the freezer and freeze to a mush; then add the fruit and finish freezing.

When serving, garnish with whipped cream and a spray of holly.

Both the Grand Army and the United Confederate Veterans are officially represented at the conference.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY IS NOT TO BE OBSERVED

Holy Week Prevents Observance of This Annual Feast—Special Services on Sunday Previous.

There will be no celebration on St. Patrick's day this year for the fourth time since 1800 and the last time in the twentieth century.

Hibernians will be unable to celebrate the annual feast day of their native country, but will have to content themselves with the thought that this will be the last time they or their children will have to forego the hilarity which should be theirs on March 17.

It is all because the annual feast day comes on the second day of Holy week, and Catholic church rules that all feasts shall be either postponed or cancelled if they fall in the week before Easter.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians, however plan to commemorate the day on Sunday the 16th. The plans have not yet been completed but they will include special services in the morning at St. Patrick's church, probably a large class in the afternoon and a musical and religious program in the evening at the Myers theatre.

Several prominent speakers have been procured and although the plans are not complete, the celebration will be larger than usual.

There have been only three times in the past that the celebration on St. Patrick's day was suspended on account of Holy week. They were in 1818 when Easter fell on March 23, the earliest date on which it can occur. In 1845 and 1896, when it came on March 23, the same date as this year.

Calculators have figured Easter dates until the year 2000 but they have found no other year in which Easter will come so early as to keep the Irishman from singing the praise of St. Patrick.

But the church does not forbid the wearing of green ribbon in Holy week, and it is expected that yards of the national color will be worn.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

GOOD housekeeping is not necessarily an arduous home making. Spotless floors may grace a home not a home. Real living means comfort, happiness and growth.

COMPANY DISHES.

Small individual puddings, rich with fruit, served with a softened prune stuffed with a marshmallow that has been dipped in alcohol and lighted, makes a pretty decoration for a company table, and the flame toasts the mallow. The alcohol flavor is all dissipated.

A very stylish pie is pumpkin pie garnished with whipped cream around the edge, put on with a pastry tube. The whipped cream may be seasoned with grated cheese, which is most delicious with any kind of pie.

Lemon ice served in lemon baskets, made from the lemon peel, are so attractive. The handles may be garnished with parsley or a violet or two.

Orange ice in orange baskets, or orange jelly molded in the halves of the orange and then cut in quarters, when the jelly is firm, is another pretty way of serving the fruit.

An appetizing canape is prepared with sardines, hard cooked egg, peas, chopped fine and a little lemon juice. Cut the bread in thin circular slices and fry in a little butter until brown. Skin and bone the sardines, rub to a paste, add the peanuts chopped, a little lemon juice, and the hard cooked egg yolk put through a ricer or sieve. Garnish the canape with pieces of egg white.

Plum Pudding Ice Cream.—Scald a pint of milk, add to it four eggs beaten with a cup and a half of sugar. Stir constantly over hot water until it forms a rich custard; strain and set aside to cool. Dissolve two tablespoonsful of cocoa in half a cup of boiling water and boil three minutes. Chill this, and add to the cold custard with a tablespoonful of vanilla and a pint of cream. Shred sufficient citron to measure half a cup; steam a cup and a half of raisins until tender, blanch and cut fine two dozen almonds; mix these with just enough orange juice to moisten, and let stand an hour. Pour the mixed cream into the freezer and freeze to a mush; then add the fruit and finish freezing.

When serving, garnish with whipped cream and a spray of holly.

BY WALT MASON

A lot of old fossils with whiskers in tassels are always predicting the worst; we're in for a panic and evils titanic, and everything's going to burst. A lot of old grouches get up from their couches and beef till they toddle to bed; they're looking with horror on every tomorrow, and each has a bolt in his head. This dirge they keep humming: "There's trouble a-coming, the storm clouds are thick in the sky! The Ravens They're gathering faster, the clouds of disaster, and there'll be a flood by and by!" Go to with your grunting! Go to with your hunting for omens or trouble and woe! The future's as pleasant and calm as the present, as smooth as the sweet long ago! A lot of old croakers in celluloid chokers sit around in the grocery store, and say we are bumping away to the dumping, and sigh for the brave days of yore. But heed not their dirge—the grocer's too civil or they'd be kicked into the street; the world is improving, the people are moving to glory on jubilant feet. The world's growing better, so heed not the fretter and prophet of evil and gloom, but by the neck take him and bludge him and shake him and push him clear out of the room.

She is charming in her enunciation, in her gracefulness of movement using her hands with the skill of an artist." ADD THEATRE . . . . . One of the oldest and best remembered definitions of the Drama comes down to the present generation from Greek origin. Aristotle, I believe, who defined it as an imitation of an action. We of today living in this scientific age realize the inadequacy of this definition, especially so since Psychology has become such an important factor in modern education.

The world of commerce, which is our world today, is the judge of artistic achievement, the same people who have laughed at and enjoyed thereby encouraging such productions as have been recently termed "grossly immoral" are the same people who sit offered in the serious Drama.

The producer cannot uplift the stage; he is a medium between play and audience; he is a mechanical instrument controlled by the people to produce whatever they most desire, and the productions, so termed immoral, exist because of their demand, therefore, it becomes apparent that the uplift of the stage rests with those who are now criticizing its condition.

Dramatic critics have exerted their efforts to a marked degree, but evidently to no purpose; the dramatists have worked and struggled only to meet with failure with few exceptions. This producers as above stated are powerless and the question rests with the masses—the world.

The great American play, often spoken of, always expected, can never hope to be written until the people have evidenced an inclination to receive it, and as long as humanity can be amused with simple vulgarity, graceful forms, passionate but disgusting dances, it cannot hope to encourage the lofty sentiments required for a great play.

The Divorce Question will play a special return engagement at Myers Theatre Saturday, February 1, Matinee and evening.

DINNER STORIES

The clerical fox hunter is a fast disappearing figure. A generation or two ago, however, the country parson who rode to hounds was by no means a rarity. G. W. E. Russell has a story of Bishop Samuel Wilberforce, who was once effectually scored on by one of his own clergy whom he had rebuked for his addiction to fox hunting.

The bishop urged that it had a worldly appearance. The clergyman replied that it was not a bit more worldly than a ball at Blenheim Palace, at which the bishop had been present. The bishop explained that he was staying in the house, but was never within three rooms of the dancing. "Oh, if it comes to that," replied the clergyman, "I never am within three fields of the hounds."

A bicyclist was riding down hill when his hat blew off. A passing countryman picked it up and took it to him as he circled around, saving him the trouble of getting off. "I really must get a hat guard to keep it on," remarked the cyclist, as he rode off without a word of thanks. The yokel's reply was short, but expressive. "Get a nail," he said.

One of Philadelphia's eminent lawyers is very brusque and overbearing in manner. A client came into his office one day and took up about five minutes of his time. As he was about to depart he produced a ten dollar bill from his pocket, and asked how much the fee was.

"Fifty dollars," said the impatient lawyer.

The client demurred a little, and the lawyer rudely said: "How much did you expect to pay? Give me what you have."

On receiving the ten dollar bill, he turned to his negro office boy and handed it to him saying: "This is for you, Jim."

"Oh, I didn't know you had a partner," said the client as he walked out.

Typographical errors are often so fearfully and wonderfully made as to arouse suspicion. Thus there was consternation in the office of the Chicago American recently, and all excuses and loud assertions on the part of the proof-readers availed not. There it was, in big black type, on the first page: "Michael Farley Dead From Heart Disease."

The proprietor of the big shop on the corner was a chemist, flourishing withal and keenly business-like. He was at the post of duty midway between the red and green vials when the fierce-looking lady entered his premises, but he rubbed his hands and greeted her cordially.

"Good evening, madam," he whined, in his high pitched voice. "And what may I have the great pleasure of doing for you?"

The foreman lady placed her arms akimbo and faced him angrily.

"The other night," she said, in sepulchral tones, "you sold my husband a bottle of tonic, and he came home and went for me like anything. What yer going to do about it?"

For a brief moment the man of medicine was nonplused, but only for a moment. Then he turned on his might-be customer his sweetest smile, and suavely remarked:

"Well, madam, buy two bottles for yourself, and then go home and get even with him!"

When General Moreau was in England he was once the victim of a rather droll misunderstanding. He was present at a concert, where a piece was sung by the choir with the refrain:

"Tomorrow, tomorrow."

Having a very imperfect knowledge of English he fancied it to be a cantata given in his honor, and thought he distinguished the words:

"To Moreau, to Moreau."

Each time the refrain was repeated he rose to his feet and gracefully bowed on all sides, to the great astonishment of the audience, who did not know what to make of it.

A certain company promoter once built a castle on a mountain peak. As he showed the gray, medieval-looking pile to a friend, he said: "I don't know what to call it. What name do you advise?" "It looks like those Scotch castles on the Highlands," said the friend. "Why not call it Banrobin?" "Yes, that would be a good name," said the millionaire, "only you see I have no intention of retiring yet."

"Do you sell stamps here?" the elderly lady asked the man behind the counter.

"Yes, madam," replied the clerk in charge, politely.

"Can I buy any quantity I like?" went on the old lady fiercely.

"Why, yes, madam. Can—"

"Have you got any one-cent ones?"

"Yes, madam," said the long-suffering one behind the grille. "How—"

"I want them together—not torn apart," pursued the relentless lady.

"And how many do you want?"

The polite clerk was losing his temper.

"One-cent ones, don't forget." She glowered at him over her spectacles.

"Why, certainly, madam. How many?"

"I'll have six cents' worth."

"Here they are. Now, will you please—"

"Here, young man, I've as much right to be here as you have! I won't be hurried!" snapped the venerable dame. Then, as she snatched towards the door, a gratified smile illuminated her features.

"Anyhow," she murmured, "I made one member of the postoffice earn his salary!"

Rent that house through a want ad, and save a month's rent.

At the age of twelve years she came with her parents to a farm four miles west of this city, which has since been her home with the exception of two years spent at Janesville. At the tender age of eighteen she was bereft of a mother's care and she bravely took on the duties of caring for the family.

MILTON

Milton Jan. 23.—The Milton poultry show opened Tuesday with three hundred birds entered, brisk competition by the shows in neighboring cities and towns and the failure to get out premium lists earlier, serving to reduce the number of entries. Judge Rountree pronounced the show a good one and began scoring birds on the afternoon of the opening day. He assisted in the work by Mrs. H. J. Crandall. The Wyanettes lead the procession in numbers and the Orlingtons are second, while the White and Buff Rocks ran next, one

SHAWANO NOW SEEKS NEW NORMAL SCHOOL

Institution Already Voted to Eau Claire May Ultimately Be Located in Different Region.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 23.—Eau Claire will not get the next state normal school if efforts started here yesterday by representatives of the city of Shawano succeed. Under a law passed four years ago, the next normal is assigned to Eau Claire, and a beautiful site has been donated and platted for the proposed building. A bill will shortly be introduced to appropriate funds for the structure.

Dr. R. Royer, mayor of Shawano, and former Assemblyman Anton Kuchuk interviewed members of the education committee and state officers yesterday relative to Shawano's claims. They take the ground that Shawano is in the midst of a wide region having no institutions of higher learning, such territory including twelve northeastern counties. They point out that Eau Claire is relatively near to the River Falls and La Crosse normals, that it is but thirteen miles from the Stout training school at Menomonie, which serves in part as a teachers' training school; and that the Superior normal serves the territory to the north of Eau Claire.

The last assembly passed an act giving Rhinelander the prior claim to the next new normal after the Eau Claire school shall have been established, but the bill failed in the senate.

The Shawano representatives assert that the legislature is not bound by any act of a previous legislature, and frankly admit they will attempt to gain the repeal of the law giving Eau Claire the first call.

Shawano is willing to donate an adequate site. Shawano citizens expect to come to Madison in generous numbers to lobby for their city.

UGH! NOT CALOMEL, OIL OR SALTS, BUT DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Give Your Stomach, Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels a Thorough Cleansing Without Gripes or Nausea. Ends Headache, Biliousness, Indigestion and Constipation.

This wonderful fruit laxative acts as a liver and bowel cleanser—tonic—not as an irritant. Its action is natural and gentle—no griping. It is delicious—no dreeding. It is positive and prompt—no waiting.

If your stomach is sour and filled with vile gases, your head aches, or you are bilious, nervous, dizzy, half sick, your tongue coated, your thirty feet of bowels clogged with waste not properly carried off—don't wait. Surely take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, and in the morning all constipated waste, sour bile, gases and poisons will move on and out of the system, gently but thoroughly—no griping—no nausea—no weakness. In the old days people let these matters run until they needed a large dose of physic, then they took something severe, like castor oil, salts or cathartics, that meant abuse to the bowels. These are the days of the gentle and natural—the days of Syrup of Figs. This way you are not drugging yourself. Syrup of Figs, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, can not cause injury.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look for the same California Fig Syrup Company on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other so-called Fig Syrup is an imitation often meant to deceive you. Refuse such with contempt.
